DANIEL RESTREPO

Danny Restrepo is an associate attorney in our Phoenix Office who works in the firm's Business and Finance practice group. His work focuses on a broad array of business services for our clients, including the preparation of commercial agreements and transactions, the negotiation and structuring of business mergers and acquisitions across a wide range of industries, and the management and protection of our client's intellectual property portfolios.

Danny has deep roots in Arizona, growing up in Tempe and attending Arizona State University's honors college and later ASU's Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law. Danny is also passionate about the responsibility that attorneys have as interpreters of the law, believing everyone deserves equal access to understand and navigate the rules that govern us. Outside of work, you'll probably find Danny outdoors where he enjoys hiking and camping, splitting his time between Phoenix and Bisbee, Arizona.
