NICHOLAS H. THOMPSON

Nick Thompson is a business, tax, and trusts and estates attorney who represents businesses and companies across a dynamic range of industries, multi-generational families, and private funds.

Nick provides strategic legal advice to privately held businesses throughout the formation, start-up, growth, maturity, and succession planning and exit phases including governance, transactional matters, mergers and acquisitions, reorganizations, and tax planning. He serves as outside general counsel to LLCs, C corporations, S corporations, partnerships, and nonprofit organizations. His business clients span various industries, including professional services, software and technology, construction, manufacturing, distribution, retail, and real estate. Nick is well-known for his ability to translate complex business and tax concepts into clear, comprehensible action items helping clients to safeguard their businesses and legacies.

Nick also has expertise in estate and wealth planning, and probate and estate administration. With an LL.M. in taxation and expertise in estate and gift tax planning, Nick creates sophisticated and comprehensive estate plans that provide efficient multi-generational wealth planning and minimize estate and gift taxes. In addition, Nick has experience resolving tax disputes before the Colorado Department of Revenue, Internal Revenue Service, and the U.S. Tax Court.

Outside of practicing law, Nick spends his free time playing golf, running, traveling, reading history, and watching sports.
